NEWBY

LONDON

We only use hand-picked leaves. Mostly by the fine-picked method which selects just the bud and the top two leaves. Less precise machine picking methods are never used. We begin by selecting solely hand-harvested leaves from prime seasons - or flushes - for all our traditional teas. Our tea tasters evaluate thousands of cups from a selection of different gardens, choosing only the season's best harvests. Not tied to single gardens where quality can vary from season to season, we buy both directly from producers and at auctions to ensure we can sample all the season's teas and buy only the most memorable.
